- The wisdom of Sue Couper and John LaMunyon, both experienced in coaching groups and teams,
- Continued review and application of the SeattleCoach Key Skills and ICF Core Competencies,
- A deeper dive into family systems theory, organizational development, and more.

The Details:

The Cohort will meet mostly in person at the SeattleCoach HQ, 6-8:00 p.m. the third Wednesday of each month, from February 21 through November 20, 2024.

In between each session, you will receive an email from us including two things for your hours of independent study and peer coaching. The first will be things to reflect on and practice we've just covered in session, both on your own and with your peer coaches. The second will be things to read, listen to, and create as you prepare for our next session.

By joining a SeattleCoach Module III, you receive additional ICF (Level 2) accredited CCEs and you also get another year (or two) in the company of some great SeattleCoaches. Plus, during any SeattleCoach Module III, we will observe and give live-action feedback to each member at least twice.

Year 1: You will receive 30 CCEs from the ICF and the SeattleCoach Groups and Teams badge (below). Graduates of Year 1 earn the option of continuing with this cohort for a second year of advanced training and experience.

The total cost of Coaching Groups and Teams, Year 1 is $4500. Hold your space with a non-refundable deposit of $1,000. Full tuition is due February 7, 2024. You'll find those three payment links near the bottom of this page.

Questions? We'll be offering an online "Taster" on Wednesday, January 10, 2024, from 7-8:30p. Write to john@seattlecoach.com to register for the Taster.
